Constructivism's central idea is that human learning is constructed, that learners build new knowledge upon the foundation of previous learning. This prior knowledge influences what new or modified knowledge an individual will construct from new learning experiences (Phillips, 1995). Learning is an active process

Constructivism as a Theory for Teaching and Learning ...

Learner-centered education is about an entirely new way of seeing, thinking about, and acting on education. It focuses on 3 key aspects about the learner. First, each learner is seen as being unique in meaningful ways. They have unique backgrounds, circumstances, and starting points with unique strengths, challenges, interests, and aspirations.

What is Learner-Centered Education? - Education Reimagined

Teachers who use more learner-centered practices (i.e., practices that show sensitivity to individual differences among students, include students in the decision-making, and acknowledge students' developmental, personal and relational needs) produced greater motivation in their students than those who used fewer of such practices (Daniels & Perry, 2003).

Improving students' relationships with teachers

Students. Building parent-teacher relationships is hard. Remote learning makes it harder. chalkbeat.org - George Farmer. Several years ago, I sat in a parent-teacher conference and observed a teacher speak to a student from a place of compassion and concern.
